We had a great time interacting with the patients. Due to the covid-19 pandemic we split into teams and explained charts to patients. We explained each chart to the public in the way they can understand and talked about the various blocks or difficulties faced by girls in this society.

We prepared pamphlets in Tamil and English and distributed it in public and explained to them the importance of the day, why it should be conducted and what are the various steps we took in enlightening everyone about it.

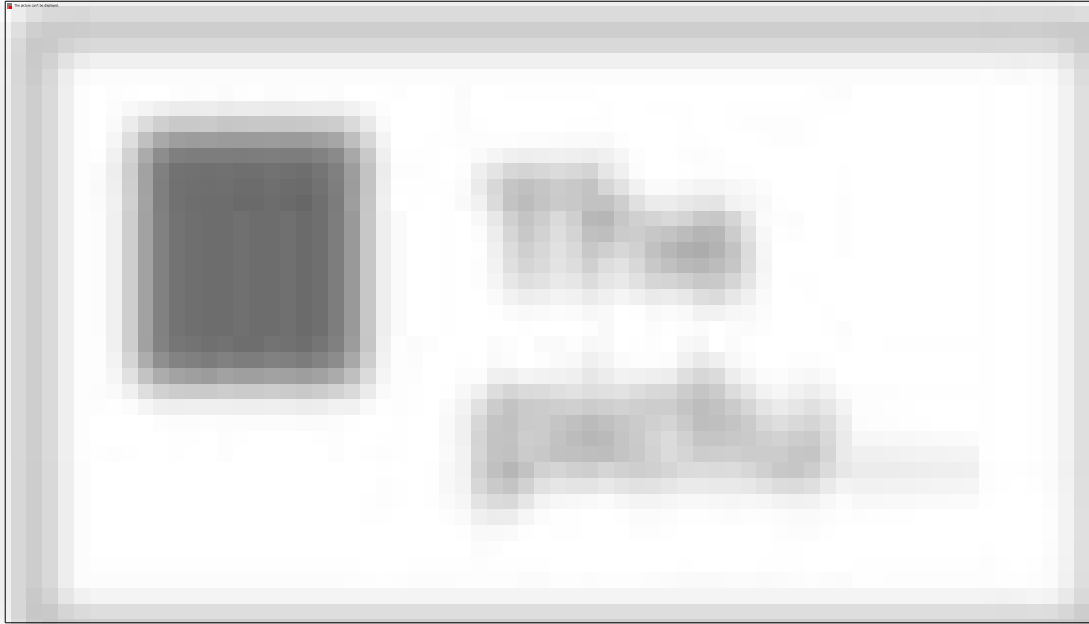

We shared the contents of charts among ourselves which gave us knowledge on how others have thought and prepared the charts their ideology and their creativity and all efforts they have put into their work. So we exchanged the work and explained them to public taking turns.

The public were allowed to sit with social distancing and instead of gathering them we went near each family and interacted with them we went near each group.

Also, we shared the contents of the poster with the public. The public were allowed to sit with social distancing and instead of gathering them we went near each family and interacted with them we went near each group. The charts were also displayed and explained to them.

Then we gathered everyone and created an awareness of the event and gave a gist about the points to be remembered and also emphasized that EACH ONE SHOULD CONTRIBUTE A LITTLE CHANGE WHICH WILL LEAD TO A BETTER TOMORROW providing a healthier and stronger environment for our children to grow.

After this we came and reported to the department and shared our overall experience and our learning out come to our staff members and fellow people.

We also prepared a small presentation giving an overall idea about the event and how we are organizing it. It listed the objectives of the event and importance of the day.

*National girl
Child day
January 24*

"DONT TAKE THEIR RIGHT TO LIFE AWAY"

It also had contents about the various difficulties faced by a child being born as a girl and various laws against their abuses and the role of dentist and public as a whole.

Role of a dentist

- ▶ Among health professionals, dentists are probably in the most favourable position to recognise child abuse, with opportunities to observe and assess not only the physical and the psychological condition of the children, but also the family environment.

Role of a public

- * Seek help immediately
- * contact the child's doctor or health care provider,
 - * a local child protective agency,
 - * the police department, or
- * a 24-hour hotline such as childline 1098.

Also we conducted online poetry and slogans for our juniors and prepared a presentation on that.

Also pencil sketching competition was conducted and all the competitions were judged and the prizes were announced.
